Ameer, the third child of hardworking Mr. Baha, displayed a strong curiosity and love for learning from a young age. However, he struggled to keep up with academic milestones and faced social isolation. Recognizing his son's differences, Mr. Baha sought help from specialists and discovered that Ameer had a learning disability and dyslexia.

At thirteen, Ameer enrolled in a Special Needs school, where he received extra support and strategies to cope with his disabilities. As his confidence grew, he made friends and excelled academically. Ameer joined Special Olympics Perak in 2018 and was selected for the World Games in Abu Dhabi, although he couldn't participate due to age restrictions.

Ameer, a senior student at S.M Pendidikan Khas Jalan Pasir Puteh, demonstrated exceptional athletic abilities as a sprinter on the school's track and field team. He trained diligently for months and achieved his proudest moment when he won the gold medal in the 100m race at the National Games.

Known for his exuberant celebrations, Ameer's infectious energy uplifted his teammates, and his victories marked his dedication and resilience. Despite his athletic achievements, Ameer harbored a dream of becoming a farmer, inspired by his upbringing on an oil palm estate in Johor. He deeply appreciated the land and the labor involved in cultivating crops.

Ameer's story is a testament to the power of love and determination, serving as an inspiration for those facing challenges in life. His father, Mr. Baha, hopes Ameer will lead an independent and successful future, supported by his caring siblings. The family eagerly looks forward to cheering Ameer on in Berlin, proud of his accomplishments and confident that he will bring glory to his country.
